Extend the Benefits of Kronos webTA to Your Off-Site and Mobile Workforce

As a Kronos® webTA™ customer, you know how automating time, attendance, and labor management processes can deliver big cost savings and productivity gains. Until now, however, the benefits of webTA were only available to your agency's on-site workforce. Not anymore. Now you can bring the advantages of the webTA solution to your off-site and mobile workforce with Kronos webTA Mobile™.

Kronos webTA Mobile extends the reach of webTA to federal employees whose work limits access to computers or terminals. Using a BlackBerry® smartphone with webTA Mobile, employees and supervisors can remotely access webTA's most frequently used functions. The result? Your employees and supervisors can keep up with critical time, attendance and labor management tasks — even when computer access simply isn't practical, efficient, or available.

webTA Mobile delivers the following benefits to your agency workforce:

- Greater convenience and time savings for improved productivity
- Increased efficiency and accuracy through higher levels of automation

Convenient, anytime access to webTA

With webTA Mobile, your employees can view and enter time and attendance data from anywhere, at anytime. No Internet connection immediately available? No problem. Employees can enter the information on their BlackBerry smartphone and then transmit the data to the webTA server when a connection becomes available. Supervisors can approve time cards, leave request, and premium pay requests using the same convenient method.

webTA Mobile provides cross-platform interoperability by representing and transmitting data that is independent of programming language, software platform, and hardware. It uses standard protocols to exchange information and enable computer systems on any platform to communicate over agency intranets, extranets, or across the Internet. The product also provides support for end-to-end security and distributed transactions.
